Waunakee Rotary Club

Jan. 12, 2006
Vol. 38, No. 27

Waunakee Rotary Club held its Club Assembly Jan. 5.

Congratulations to Al Dassow, who received the Paul Harris Fellow at the Rotary Holiday Party.

Al is a native of Sheboygan and a graduate of UW-Madison. He and his wife, Lynn, have raised their two children in Waunakee.

A partner with the CPA firm Clifton Gunderson, Al has won several accounting awards and has worked with the Knights of Columbus. He joined Waunakee Rotary in 1993 and has a strong record of service to the club.

Al has served on the Rotary Club's board of directors for 10 years, holding the seats of treasurer and president. He has also worked on Chamber of Commerce projects and serves on the village's board of review, the economic development committee and community development authority and finance committee.

Dave Kennedy is distributing tickets for the Super Bowl Sunday raffle Feb. 5. The grand prize is a projection TV. This has always been a great fund-raiser for Rotary, and every club member is encouraged to sell, sell, sell those tickets.

Two volunteers are needed to work with the Super Raffle.

President Greg Garton reported that fund-raising for the holiday lights display went very well, and the board has authorized $10,000 to be used for more displays next year – displays that will be put together by Qual Line. About $8,500 had been donated by people who drove through the display.

The cost of the weekly meals has been increased from $7 to $7.50.

The following Rotarians need to have their pictures taken for the

From a movie review: "This movie wasn't released, it escaped!"

Do you know that program for Windows beginners named "Bob for Windows?" They're working on a version for the Mac -- they're calling it "Bob for Apples."

What did the L.A gang member say when the houses fell on him during the big earthquake? "Get off me, homes."

I think kids these days aren't being educated very well. I saw a boy reading a book about Abraham Lincoln, so I said "Are you to the part where he gets assassinated?" He said "You spoiled it! Now why should I finish it?"

Answer to a science question: "Carbon Monoxide is an odorless gas, and if you smell it, you're in real trouble!"

A small, rich country decided to take on a space mission no one else wanted. They called up NASA about their plans. NASA said "You can't fly to the sun! You'll burn up! They responded, "Yes, we thought of that -- so we're going at night!"
